Hmmm, I may not have left enough room in this space. Well, at least I'll keep it short. My experience includes quite a trip through the creative world, working at a variety of agency types from my start in design studios to packaging studios, to advertising and promotion agencies from Chicago to San Francisco with stops in between. I've led multiple creative teams or have worked directly on projects in brand advertising, promotion, interactive, direct and retail for many national and international brands including Visa, Target, Coca-Cola, Hewlett-Packard, American Express, Rollerblade, Kraft, SC Johnson, PepsiCo, Ford Trucks and others. What I've discovered through the years, and truly believe, is that good work is emotionally based and should come from and be felt in the gut. Kind of like a good meatball sandwich - one with cheese and extra sauce on French bread, not shield bread. Ciabatta's or I guess, any way
